Two New Items of Interest

Since our June HLAA Wake Chapter Newsletter, two new things have come up that are worth letting everyone know about. Hence, this new (part a) addition to the June Newsletter.

Virtual HLAA National Conference Presentations and Exhibit Hall:

This Thursday and Friday, you can experience several key sessions and a virtual exhibit hall that would have been available at the HLAA National Convention … FOR FREE.

All you have to do is go to this web page and Register now, so if you don’t want to miss one (or all) of these opportunities, click on that link now, and register. You’ll receive information on how to see these great sessions starting at noon on Thursday and Friday. Here’s a list of the sessions you can see:

Thursday:
- Opening: Welcome to Experience HLAA!
- The Potential for Regenerative Medicine to Restore Hearing Loss
- Workplace Gain: A Discussion on Self-Advocacy, Marketing and Navigating the Workplace with Hearing Loss

Friday
- Research Symposium: The Latest on Tinnitus Research
- Meet the Research Symposium Scientists
- Hearing Loss and the Health Care System: A Call to Action

Our Postponed Presenter offers a Web Presentation You May Enjoy:

Patricia Johnson, AuD, Assistant Clinical Professor, UNC School of Medicine, Allied Health Sciences, Speech & Hearing Sciences, was to be Wake Chapter's March presenter. That was postponed, but she has offered to share a great Webinar covering an Introduction to Hearing loss, Using Masks and Getting Health Care During this Pandemic. See her presentation, HERE.
